Biography

Adam Rosenberger was the son of Kuntz Rosenberger. In 1575, he had seven beehives in his garden in Niederzell, near Schlüchtern, Hannau, Germany. Tax records show that he was taxed for each hive.

Adam married Elizabeth. They had a son Bartholmaus, our ancestor. Adam died on 16 Dec 1594 in Niederzell, Germany.

In Adam's time, Niederzell was a small village. Now it is part of the small town of Schlüchtern in Hessen, Germany located 76 kms northwest of Frankfurt. The town evolved from a monastery founded in the 8th century, enlarged during the following centuries and closed down during the reformation. Now the convent buildings are used for a public school. They were reconstructed during the 19th century. A crypt from Carolingian times has been preserved.

1750s Albany connections between Regina Zizter/Jacob Rosenberger and Peter and Johann Ernst Bockus?

1750s Albany connections between Regina Zizter/Jacob Rosenberger and Peter and Johann Ernst Bockus?

On 30 Dec 1751, we have this baptism recorded in the Albany Dutch Reform Churchbook:

"Johannes, of Jacob Rosevelt [I think that's an error for "Rosenberg"] and Regina Frisera [I think that's a "Fritzer" variation]. Wit.: Ernst and Catarina Bacchus." Because of the witnesses, the resemblance of the mother's name "Frisera" to "Fritzer," & the match-up of the triad of names Jacob, Regina & Johannes to the known triad of Jacob, Regina Zitzer/Fritzer and Johannes Rosenberg, I think "Rosevelt" is an error for "Rosenberg.

Then we have a trading of favors, with Jacob Rosenberg and Regina Fritzer/Zitzer serving as sponsors to the baptism of a Bockus child, namely John/Johannes N Bockus, b 1754. On 25 Aug 1754, we have this baptism recorded, again in the Albany Dutch Reform Churchbook:

"Johannes, [son of Pieter Bockus and Eva Maria Muller] bpt. 25 Aug 1754, sp.: Jacob Rosenberg and and Regina Fritzer." [See photo attached to John/Johannes N Bockus's baptism, a snippet from Henry Z Jones, Palatine Families of New York, 1710.]

Peter Bockus was a brother of Ernst Bockus.

Later, we have intermarriages between the Rosenbergs and Bockuses (e.g., about 1767, probably in Hoosick or Petersburgh, NY, Peter Bockus and Eva Maria Muller's daughter, Anna/Hannah Bockus, marries Jacob Rosenberg and Regina Zitzer's son, Peter Rosenberg, Sr.), but what was the connection between the older generation of Bockuses and Rosenberg/Fritzers in 1750s Albany?

built by Christoffel Rosenberger

Biography

Adam Rosenberger was the son of Kuntz Rosenberger. In 1575, he had seven beehives in his garden in Niederzell, near Schlüchtern, Hannau, Germany. Tax records show that he was taxed for each hive.

Adam married Elizabeth. They had a son Bartholmaus, our ancestor. Adam died on 16 Dec 1594 in Niederzell, Germany.

In Adam's time, Niederzell was a small village. Now it is part of the small town of Schlüchtern in Hessen, Germany located 76 kms northwest of Frankfurt. The town evolved from a monastery founded in the 8th century, enlarged during the following centuries and closed down during the reformation. Now the convent buildings are used for a public school. They were reconstructed during the 19th century. A crypt from Carolingian times has been preserved.

This was to be Jacobs' first of three marriages. He was widowed 2 times.

Maria Rosenberg

Nicholas' obituary says his mother died 10 years after he was born. However, other evidence indicates it may have been 10 days. It could have been 10 months, but that is not as plausible. Jacob Moak remarried on 14 Nov 1816 in Scholarie, NY which was 11 months after Nicholas' birth.

Extensive research by Terry Peters of the Rosenberg family suggests strongly that Maria is the oldest child of John and Anna Rosenberg who were sponsors for Nicholas' baptism.

Obituary

Posted 12 May 2021 by hamroots

Carol Workman Crane, 85, was reunited with her eternal companion, W. Dayton Crane, July 21, 2019. Carol was born in Provo, Utah, to John Cornelius and Florence Atella (Cook) Workman.

Carol was raised at a time where there were many sacrifices being made as it was the tail end of the depression and her father was sick and unable to work. The example by her mother to make ends meet and be able to feed and care for 9 children made an everlasting impact on her posterity. As a young girl, Carol needed to work to pay for piano lessons, which became a lifetime joy for her. She was a seamstress and made most of her children's clothing, formals, costumes, and wedding dresses. It was important to her to have a delicious, balanced, and colorful meal at dinnertime and to sit down as a family to enjoy it. She was an avid reader and kept up on all the current events. When her husband had his own business, she was a great support by helping him with the rental properties. During the time her husband battled brain cancer, she remained faithful to her beliefs and even became a faithful fan of the Arizona D-backs.

Carol was a member of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. She served in many capacities including Relief Society President, of the Ward and Stake, and as a temple worker in the Mesa Arizona temple. It gave her great pleasure to have choir practice in her home every Sunday for many years. She also enjoyed being a member of Daughters of the Utah Pioneers and was proud of her pioneer heritage.

Carol is survived by one sister (Wilma Gardner) and her 7 children: Julie Harris (Greg), Richard D. Crane (Julie), Jeanette Taylor (Jeff), Lisa Compton (Ron), Susan Bartlett (Jeff), Carrie Saunders (Kent), and Christy Glover (Bryan) as well as 28 grandchildren and 50 great grandchildren with more on the way. She is preceded in death by her husband, W. Dayton Crane, and a great grandson, Lincoln Glover.

Services will be held Saturday August 3, 2019 at the LDS chapel located at 1455 N. Harris, Mesa, Arizona at 10am. There will be a time to visit with the family on

Carol Workman Crane, 85, was reunited with her eternal companion, W. Dayton Crane, July 21, 2019. Carol was born in Provo, Utah, to John Cornelius and Florence Atella (Cook) Workman.

Carol was raised at a time where there were many sacrifices being made as it was the tail end of the depression and her father was sick and unable to work. The example by her mother to make ends meet and be able to feed and care for 9 children made an everlasting impact on her posterity. As a young girl, Carol needed to work to pay for piano lessons, which became a lifetime joy for her. She was a seamstress and made most of her children’s clothing, formals, costumes, and wedding dresses. It was important to her to have a delicious, balanced, and colorful meal at dinnertime and to sit down as a family to enjoy it. She was an avid reader and kept up on all the current events. When her husband had his own business, she was a great support by helping him with the rental properties. During the time her husband battled brain cancer, she remained faithful to her beliefs and even became a faithful fan of the Arizona D-backs.

Carol was a member of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. She served in many capacities including Relief Society President, of the Ward and Stake, and as a temple worker in the Mesa Arizona temple. It gave her great pleasure to have choir practice in her home every Sunday for many years. She also enjoyed being a member of Daughters of the Utah Pioneers and was proud of her pioneer heritage.

Carol is survived by one sister (Wilma Gardner) and her 7 children: Julie Harris (Greg), Richard D. Crane (Julie), Jeanette Taylor (Jeff), Lisa Compton (Ron), Susan Bartlett (Jeff), Carrie Saunders (Kent), and Christy Glover (Bryan) as well as 28 grandchildren and 50 great grandchildren with more on the way. She is preceded in death by her husband, W. Dayton Crane, and a great grandson, Lincoln Glover.

Services will be held Saturday August 3, 2019 at the LDS chapel located at 1455 N. Harris, Mesa, Arizona at 10am. There will be a time to visit with the family on Friday, August 2, from 6-8pm at Bunkers Garden Chapel 33 N. Centennial Way.

Henry Crane & Jennette Dansie

- ## Diary of journey to America

Posted 22 Sep 2012 by roywinfield

1866 (age 14), Crane, Henry

I, Henry Crane, was born on the 12th of April, 1852, at Pulham North Green, County of Norfolk, England, son of John and Sarah Stannard Crane. My early life was spent in that quiet part of the county. In 1855, my parents moved to Coldgate and there I first attended Sunday School in the little Methodist Chapel. Being born of good parents, I was early taught to be honest and truthful, and also to believe that there was a God, and that it was my duty to love and fear Him. I afterwards attended the National School and Sunday School at the church in Pulham Market.

Soon after I was 7 years old I went to work on a farm and followed that kind of work till I was 11 years old. I then worked one summer at brick making with a man by the name of Phillip Woodard, but I did not like that work. I worked at it all summer and became quite an expert at setting them off, with the two small boards. I next went to work for a man by the name of William Reeve, a bricklayer. I liked that much better, and as he was a good man to work for, was very pleased with the change....

In the year 1860, my parents moved to Pulham Market Street and soon afterwards became acquainted with John Bullock, who was a member of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. He taught the gospel to them and in December, 1861, my parents were baptized into and became members of the Church, and on June 18, 1862, I was baptized with two brothers and one sister, all of the family that were then old enough. I was just ten years old. Some others also joined the church, and we had a nice branch in Pulham Market. But my parents soon got the spirit of gathering and early in May 1866, they sold out all their earthly possessions and started for North America, to find a home among that much despised people called Latter-day Saints.

To America (No Deaths)

We left Pulham Market on the morning of the 21st of May, 1866, and arrived in London at noon. We were met at the station by Elder C. W. Penrose, who was then President of the London Conference. We stayed in London three days, and on the 24th of May we left the docks in the good ship American Congress, and sailed away across the great Atlantic. We were on board just seven weeks. We had some rough weather, and lots of contrary wind to contend with. There was but very little sickness, and no deaths occurred on the journey, which was quite remarkable among so many; there being three or four hundred people on board. After a long and tiresome voyage, we arrived in New York harbour on the morning of July 4th, as that was a holiday we had to remain on board until the next day. We had a splendid view of the fireworks that night from the ship as we lay in the harbour.

To Wyoming, Nebraska

The next day towards evening we went ashore and then went aboard one of the large river steamers which took us up the Hudson River to New Haven, where we arrived early in the morning, then took the train to St. Joseph on the Missouri River, where we arrived after about five days and nights on the train and laying around in cattle cars and in railroad sheds. We then went on board a steamboat and steamed up the river to a small place called Wyoming, the outfitting place then of the Church teams. We landed and had our first taste of camp life, also our first taste of real freedom and you may be sure we boys enjoyed it, and were glad to have the chance to run around again, after having been on the ship and train for eight weeks.

Guiding a Cow across the Plains

We remained on the banks of the Missouri for about two weeks, and while there my father bought a cow, appointed me to take charge and drive her across the plains, a task that I succeeded in doing, taking her into Salt Lake City in good condition after traveling over one thousand miles and being milked every day. We left the Missouri River on July 24th to cross the plains. It was quite sport at first, for a few days at least, to go on ahead of the train of wagons in the morning, but it soon lost its novelty after we had been at it for a week or two. There were in the train between eighty and ninety wagons, with from three to four yoke of oxen to a wagon, and when we were traveling reached about a mile in length and so we wended our way, day after day towards the setting sun....

70-Day Trip; Brother Died

My parents had the misfortune to lose one of their children. The youngest boy of the family. He was sickened soon after we left home and slowly pined away until we neared Fort Bridger. When we stopped for dinner one day, he passed away. We carried him until night and then buried him by the roadside and next morning left him there alone. After many ups and downs, and many trials and privations, we arrived in Great Salt Lake City on Sept. 28, 1866, in fair condition, having been traveling just seventy days. All were enjoying pretty good health except Mother, who with the care of the family and fatigue of the journey was nearly worn out.

Adapting to a New Home

We were strangers in a strange land, and a hard winter coming on, but through the blessings of the Lord and the kindness of the Saints we did not suffer for the real necessities of life, but the comforts were few. Soon after our arrival in the city, I went to work for Job Smith, a basket maker, but I did not like that kind of work, it was too much like being in prison for me. I had always been used to being in the open air and could not stand to be shut up in a little shop all day, so I went to live with my parents and my brother, Arthur. We cut the wood for a large family to pay the rent for the house we lived in. In the spring of 1867 I hired out to a man by the name of Moon, to work on a farm. He was to board and clothe me, and send me to school in the wintertime, but it was very little schooling that I got; he gave a few lessons at home, that was all the schooling I had. I worked for him about fourteen months, and all I got in the shape of clothing was one pair of shoes. In June 1868, the Great Union Pacific Railroad was commenced in Echo Canyon, and I left Mr. Moon to join a company from Sugar House Ward who were going to Echo to work on the railroad. This company was lead by James Crane. He was quite a friend of the family being of the same name, and was one of the first that we became acquainted with in the City after our arrival.

«u»«b»AN ACCOUNT OF A NEAR DISASTER IN THE JOURNEY OF THE SHIP "AMERICAN CONGRESS" REGARDING THE CRANE'S VOYAGE OF 1866.

"Saved by Providence" by John Nicholson

The elders of the Church often speak of the care shown by the Lord in preserving his Saints from harm. He has delivered them miraculously from accidents and death many times.

I will tell of a case which God exercised his power in behalf of a company of his people.

The children who read the Instructor perhaps all know that hundreds and thousands of Saints gather to this country, from far-off nations, every year. Many ship loads of them have crossed the Atlantic Ocean - a voyage of nearly 3,000 miles. On the sea, many accidents occur whereby people lose their lives by drowning, through the sinking of ships in storms. But nothing of this kind has ever taken place with a ship load of Saints. The reason for this is, that God has promised to protect his elect who should gather from the four quarters of the earth in these latter days.

In the year 1866, Elder Brigham Young Jr., who was then president of what is called the European Mission of the Church, appointed the writer of this article to take charge of a company of about five hundred Saints from Great Britain to the banks of the Missouri River, in this country, on their way to Salt Lake City. The Saints did not cross the sea in fast sailing steamships in those days. They traveled over the waters in slow-going sailing ships, depending for speed on favorable winds. At that time six weeks was considered the average length of time for a voyage from England to New York.

We left port the port of London on the 23rd of May, 1866, a very fine company of people, not a few of whom, I am pleased to say, are good, honorable members of the Church, in Utah today. I have in my mind especially now some of the boys who were with us. I have seen them grow up to manhood, and they are still faithful.

When the American Congress, on which we sailed, was near the shores of Newfoundland a thick fog prevailed for several days, which prevented Captain Woodward from taking an observation, being unable to see the sun. He therefore could not tell exactly where we were.

About this time the captain and Brother John Rider, who now lives in Kanab, and who was one of my counselors in the presidency of the company, were conversing on the part of the ship called the quarter deck. I was standing some distance away from them.

Brother Rider happened to turn his face in the direction in which the ship was sailing. At that moment the fog lifted up from the surface of the sea, as if a vail or scroll had been raised. He saw clearly between the fog and the water for some distance ahead.

Suddenly he exclaimed, pointing forward, "'Captain, what is that?"

Captain Woodward, who was tall, powerful and active, made no answer. It was no time for orders. He sprang to the wheelhouse with the agility of a tiger, and knocked the man at the helm "heels over head," sending him sprawling upon the deck. At the same instant he grasped the wheel, turning it with the most surprising rapidity. Although his movements were so quick, he did not lose his presence of mind a moment. He was busy with his voice as well as his hands, for awhile he acted as I have described, he shouted, in clear, loud, piercing tones, the several orders directing all hands to "bout ship." The sailors sprang to their posts. They were active limbs and busy hands among the rigging. The good ship American Congress, swayed slowly around, and the moment of peril was past.

Had this action been delayed a few moments the vessel would have been among the breakers, upon the rock, dashed in pieces and probably not a soul of the nearly five hundred on board would have escaped a watery grave.

The rocks and breakers ahead, on the line of the vessels course, were what Brother Rider saw when the fog lifted. The captain asked us, as a special favor, not to say a word to the people about the danger with which the ship had been threatened. He being the commander of the vessel, we considered it right to respect his desire; besides, we thought his suggestion wise, as a knowledge of what had occurred would doubtless have caused an uneasy feeling among the passengers. The company were, therefore, not aware of the great danger they had escaped.

Elder Rider and myself thanked God for his goodness in so manifestly exercising his power in behalf of his Saints. The Lord fulfilled the promises made to us by his servants at the time we left England for the land of Zion. [p. 19]

- ## Rescue of bark Baltic

Posted 04 Oct 2012 by roywinfield

Wreck of the Bark Baltic of Philadelphia.

The following letter, conveying intelligence of the loss of the American bark Baltic, of Philadelphia, from Leghorn, and of the rescue of her crew by the packet-ship American Congress, Capt. Williams, belonging to Grinnell, Minturn & Co., of this City, was received by the Arctic: On board the packet-ship American Congress

Capt- Williams, (Grinnell & Minturn's.) Wednesday, Sept. 29, 1852. To the Editor of the New-York Daily Times .•

On Friday, the 10th inst., we experienced a most dreadful storm, which lasted all the afternoon and most of the following night, the vessel under close-reefed top sail. Towards morning it moderated, the wind shifting to a good sailing breeze from the west. At daylight Capt. Williams, who was early at his post—the American Congress being In lat. 42° 17', Ion. 47° 08', discovered the sails of a vessel over the horizon to the windward. Thinking that he perceived something unusual in her appearance, he directed the glass to it, and found she had signals of distress flying. He immediately changed the course of his vessel towards the stranger as much as the wind would allow, at the same time ordering the boats to be prepared for launching. About 8 o'clock the stranger had hauled to just ahead of us, and as his boats hung ready to be dropped in the water, Capt. Williams did not launch his. No one could be seen on the deck of the vessel excepting the man at the wheel, until it was hauled to the wind, when the crew appeared, and commenced in much haste to throw their dunnage into the boats, one of which was soon filled, manned with five men, and on her way to the American Congress, She was under charge of the first mate, and as soon as the stores were taken from her, Capt. Williams very generously said he would wait until they returned to the ship, with the hope that they might save more of their things. With a fresh crew from the American Congress, the boat started back to the ship, and soon after the other boat arrived, containing the Captain and the rest of the crew. The two vessels had drifted some distance from each other, and it was some time before the boat that had gone back to the distressed ship returned.

The vessel proved to be the bark Baltic, Capt. Honeywell, of Philadelphia, on her return from Leghorn, with a cargo of marble, pumice stone, and rags, and on the day when discovered by Capt. Williams had been absent from Philadelphia just six months. It appears that, on the third day before, she had been becalmed and rolled very heavily. The first knowledge [Capt. Honeywell had of there being anything wrong, was in finding four feet water in the hold, and gaining very fast. All hands were immediately placed at the pumps, but all their exertions could not reduce the water Capt. H. supposes that, in the rolling of his vessel, some of the heavy blocks of marble must have become loosened and stove a hole in her bottom. On examination, some of the stanchions were found broken, but it was impossible, owing to the heavy nature of the cargo, to reach the leak.

They worked all the following night without stopping to rest, and part of the next morning, when, finding the water had gained upon them, and themselves almost exhausted, they concluded to abandon her. They accordingly took to the boats, having put in them most of their valuables, which—there coming on much wind, with a heavy sea—they were compelled to throw into the sea. Capt. H., giving the example by throwing over his trunk first. The storm mentioned before having come on, Capt. H. induced the men to return to the ship, assuring them, after a great deal of difficulty, that they would be lost if they remained in the boats. On the bark again, there was no alternative but to go at the pumps, where they remained until taken on board the American Congress, having labored at the breaks, without sleep, for 52 hours. Capt. H. stood at the wheel without leaving it for 25 hours.

On the second day after the leak was discovered, a large ship passed quite near them to the windward, but paid no attention to their signals of distress, although they must have seen them. And it is due to Captain Williams to say, that from the first moment, he discovered the ill-fated vessel, he used all exertion to assist her, without once considering his own convenience. The names of those taken off are Elliott Honeywell, Captain; John Ferris. First Mate; N. P. Dickinson, Second Mate; Peter Allen, Jas Wilson, Chris. Saundon, Robert Matthews, Chester Cangon, Lewis Hall. Angelo Vange, Seamen ; Thomas Downs, Boy ; John Lain, colored Cook.

- ## Loss of ship "American Congress"

Posted 04 Oct 2012 by roywinfield

Another Missing Vessel — Probable Loss of the Ship American Congress.

On the 7th of December last, the ship American Congress, with a crew of twenty- two men, commanded by Capt. Ghiselin, left this port for London, and since then nothing has been heard of her. With the favorable weather which prevailed at the time of her departure, the ship should have reached London before the end of December, and a delay in arrival even to the first week in January would have made an unusually long passage. The ships ot this line — popularly known as the "Swallow-tail", from the peculiar shape of their flag— make an average of three round trips each year between London and New-York. and the owners of the American Congress are of opinion that the vessel is lost, unless driven to some distant coast by the very gales that would ordinarily have quickened her passage.

The missing vessel was built at Newcastle, Me., in 1849, her dimensions being — length,

162 feet ; breadth, 34 feet ; depth of hold, 23 feet ; tonnage, 900. Sbe was full ship rigged, and rated at 1.3 in the American Lloyds and A 1.3 in French Lloyds. Her exact value cannot well be estimated. The cargo — consisting of wheat, flour, oil cake. tobacco, and resin— was valued at $70,000, and insured in Wall-street offices for nearly that amount.

Future Farmers Of America

The local F. F. A. is affiliated with the State and National Future Farmers of America, having for its motto: "Learning by doing and doing to learn." This motto has for its objective the development of leadership in agriculture. To promote leadership, in addition to class instruction and the home project, the State F. F. A. sponsors outside activities. Among those participated in by this chapter are public speaking contests and livestock, dairy, poultry, and citrus judging contests.

Thus a boy may meet in friendly competition hundreds of boys from all parts of California. This experience develops self-confidence and a state-wide picture of agriculture. If a boy will supplement these outside activities with active participation in the local organization, a fundamental training for leadership is attained.

Judging teams are as follows: Dairy A: D. Nollet, L. Melville, B. Walker; Dairy B: H. Mukai, R. Buckel, J. Bowles; Poultry A: E. Jensen, R. Brown, J. Miller; Poultry B: R. Young, J. Frankenstein, R. Calhoun; Livestock A: J. Hayes, G. Tucker, T. Takehara; Livestock B: D. Hayes, P. Hammond, G. Martin; Citrus Fruit A: E. Jensen H. Mukai, J. Mote; Citrus Fruit B: W. Bledsoe, V. Haptonstall, T. Takehara.

The Judging teams awards were: Citrus A: second place at San Bernardino; Livestock A: second place at Imperial, Poultry B: second place at Imperial; Dairy B: third place at Imperial.
